

1. This first day of the week saw earth from ut - ter dark - ness
 2. Be - gone with slum - bering, sloth - ful ease! Raise we our hearts and
 3. And so we plead for what we crave: that God stretch forth his
 4. As - sem - bled for a ho - ly day, this ho - ly hour we
 5. O Fa - ther of un - cloud - ed light, we pray thee, kneel - ing
 6. O Fa - ther, that we ask be done through Je - sus Christ, thine first have birth; this day its Mak - er rose a - gain, bend our knees! Heed we the Psalms' pro - phet - ic call hand to save, and, purg - ing out each sin - ful stain, raise the lay; and, O that he to whom we sing in thy sight, from all de - file - ment to be freed, on - ly Son, who, with the Ho - ly Ghost and thee, and van - quished death, and burst our chain. to seek be - times the Lord of all!

 re - store us to our home a - gain.
 may now re - ward our of - fer - ing!
 and ev - ery sin - ful act and deed. shall live and reign e - ter - nal - ly. A - men.

Text: Primo dierum omnium, Morning Office Hymn for Sunday (M), Octave of Epiphany to Quinquagesima and Mid-October to Last Sunday after Pentecost. St. Gregory the Great (circa 540-604), tr. John Mason Neale (1818-1866), alt. Tune: Primo dierum, Mode iv, LM